

Sandra Pabon began her career in the construction industry in 2000 after immigrating to the United States from Colombia in 1999. Her career started at an entry-level position at Itasca Construction, despite not being able to speak English at the time. Motivated to advance her career, she earned a degree in Construction Management in 2010. She was promoted to project manager in 2013, successfully leading diverse projects across office, industrial, hospitality, and interior buildout sectors.

In 2020, Sandra became Vice President and an Owner of Itasca Construction. In this leadership role, she focuses on building client relationships and overseeing the successful execution of projects, bringing a strategic vision and nearly 25 years of experience to the company. Outside of work, Sandra loves to travel, enjoy good food and wine, and spend quality time with her family.
