

Spencer Burton

Co-Founder & CEO

CRE Agents

Spencer Burton is co-founder of Adventures in CRE (A.CRE), one of the most widely used commercial real estate education platforms in the industry, reaching CRE professionals worldwide through its financial model library, career resources, and the A.CRE Accelerator, a case-based, institutional-quality real estate financial modeling program built for the AI era.

He is also co-founder of CRE Agents, which builds AI coworkers for CRE firms, and the co-founder of AI.Edge, the largest community of CRE professionals leaning into AI. Prior to turning his focus to AI for CRE, Spencer spent 25 years across brokerage, asset management, acquisitions, and development investing on behalf of some of the world's largest institutional investors. A graduate of Florida State University and Cornell University, Spencer lives in the Miami area with his family.